The Pacific Railroad

A correspondent of the New York Times writing from Fort Kearny (Nebraska), August 2d gives the following intelligence in regard to railroad matters

This military post, and the neighboring town of Kearny City all but vigorous and promising like all these youthful Western towns and men—are now put into steam communication with the Missouri river and thereby with the East This letter will be taken to you by the through passenger train on the road, and I have thought the opportunity worthy being seized as an occasion for giving your readers fuller information concerning the great Pacific railroad than they can gather from the meager telegrams which have hitherto appeared in the columns of the Eastern press It deserves a more complete notice than it has obtained not only from the vast results which will come out of it but also in the noble character of the work itself and the manner of its prosecution

THE TWO DIVISIONS OF THE PACIFIC RAILROAD

I know well the northern division of the road from Omaha to this post I am at this morning visited the terminal point here and noted the progress but a few days since I traveled over the whole extent of the Eastern division and I have thus put myself en rapport with the state of both roads

These roads now being pushed westward ho so rapidly from the two sides of the triangle meeting in a common point Denver City or near there, the base of the triangle being the line of the Missouri river, from Omaha City (Nebraska) to Kansas City (Missouri) The Eastern division, as it is named of the Southerly road starts from Wyandotte, in Kansas separated from Kansas City only by the Kansas river. Thirty eight miles west lies Lawrence—famous in the days of border ruffianism and Sharp's rifles—and from this city a branch road runs northwesterly to Leavenworth A branch road it is called; but by the overwhelming size and trade of Leavenworth over Wyandott it is made in reality the main route and the most important in its traffic The charter of the company prevents the entrance of the road into the State of Missouri else had Kansas City been the terminal point, and thus the distance by which Leavenworth has pushed ahead during the war, of the former city in their great race for trade and population, would have been in some degree lessened, and the relative position of the two cities reversed in all probability at a not distant day As it is, Leavenworth has not reaped and will not reap the full harvest which might have tumbled into her expectant hands had there been but one terminal point at that city Kansas City still hopes against hope to gain the greater part of the Western trade already immense and destined to increase steadily but while she will be a rich and busy city Leavenworth is destined to be the great city of this part of the country

These two branches, from Leavenworth and Wyandotte meeting in Lawrence push on, in a single track for 104 miles, to Wamego, which is now the terminal point Beyond this place trains proceed no farther at present but the track is completed for sixteen miles beyond to Manhattan, and it now awaits only the completion of the bridge over the Blue, to carry the cars to Manhattan It was expected that this bridge would have been finished on the 15th inst, but on the 16th, when I left Fort Riley for this point, it was not yet ready, though in all probability it is now open for travel Beyond this the grading has been carried to Junction City, fourteen miles west of Manhattan; and but a few weeks can elapse before trains will be running to this point Junction City is situated at the junction (hence the name) of the Republican and Smoky Hill streams which, uniting form the Kansas, or Kaw river, by which latter title it is universally known throughout this country Thus, this road may be considered completed for 133 miles from Wyandotte and Leavenworth

THE KANSAS VALLEY

Throughout this distance it passes along the north bank of the Kansas, through the richest and fairest part of the State The valley is a charming one the banks—sometimes boldly bluffed, again rolling gently away—are well wooded, and are picturesque and pleasant to look upon The bottom is fertile, and the farms on either side show crops of rare luxuriance The traveler over this road receives an impression of the beauty and the wealth of this land, of its timber and its streams, which it would not be erroneous to apply to the whole State

It is designed to push forward to Denver as rapidly as possible, and the enterprising contractors at the head of whom is the well known Shoemaker of Cincinnati, are making every effort to that end They have a large force constantly at work, all points are pushed simultaneously The chief obstacle with which they have had to contend—a small one but still the chief one—is in throwing bridges over the numerous streams flowing from the north into the Kaw but they have now nearly overcome this difficulty, and further progress involves less labor

JUNCTION CITY

It was the original intention to run the Pacific Railroad up the course of the Republican, in a northwesterly direction and in the course of time it is certain that such a road will be constructed Should this be accomplished and in some degree without it, Junction City will become an important point. These numerous towns which spring up so suddenly on the Plains, remain in constant and fierce rivalry, each eagerly clutching at every straw of trade to keep itself afloat and to swim ahead of its neighbors I hope to give you in a future letter some interesting and amusing facts about these places and their comical scorn of each other in the meantime I will only say that in my eyes there is a fairer future for Junction City than for the majority of these smaller western towns. At the meeting point of these railroads, it will have a vast amount of transhipment and of consequent trade and there will be fitted out and from there will start, the immense trains for New Mexico and the Santa Fe route The latter trade is very large and must grow with the increasing population of the South west

It is extraordinary to see in how short a time the smooth grass-covered prairie unworn by wagon tracks and undented even by hoof prints has been converted into a grand iron highway It must be owned that the labor necessary to this transformation is but slight The level plain, smooth as a barn floor, requires no grading in the true sense of the term Occasionally a thin slice of elevated ground must be scraped away, occasionally a dip in the surface requires to be filled up with a few handsfull of earth but beyond this it needs only that the sleepers be laid the rails placed on them and the spaces filled in with earth Down on the banks of the Platte however quicksands are met with and here piles must be driven to insure a firm foundation After thus piling the quicksands it is to be hoped that the quicksands will not "spile" the road—as the western vernacular has it. For 200 miles beyond the plain offers equal advantages with those already found and it is claimed that similar progress will be made The contractors expect to push on at the rate of 100 miles every three months and they have engaged to complete the road to Cottonwood 96 miles beyond this point by the 1st of December

A CITY ON PAPER

This is a genuine American genius—the genius of the West especially which welcomes obstacles and looks on impossibilities as incentives to greater exertion I found to this morning another admirable specimen of Western enterprise At the station I was shown a map of the city which is as a matter of course in this live country, to spring up here But one building now stands there in the center of the prairie—station house and hotel in one; a frame building is jumping up—began yesterday perhaps and probably finished this evening—yet here is a grand city on paper! There stand ninety six blocks rectangularly and mathematically laid out, an alley through the center of each Each contains four beautiful building lots sixty six by one hundred and thirty two feet The streets are eighty feet wide The central street through which runs the railway has two hundred feet in width It looked very fair and flourishing, and vividly brought to mind the experience of Martin Chuzzlewit in our country It needed only in very large capitals in the center of certain blocks, the names of the City Hall, Exchange Custom and Opera house etc to bear a strong resemblance to the delectable city of Eden

DIFFICULTIES

The chief difficulty in the construction of both these roads has been in the procuring of proper wood for the ties and sleepers The Eastern division cuts a certain amount on the banks of the Kaw and the streams debouching into it but every stick put into this Northern Division must be brought from Omaha, where they are prepared Many of the sleepers are of ash, elm and similar woods but the cotton wood—the tree par excellence of these plains—furnishes the timber for the great proportion No better wood is found for ordinary building purposes where it is not opposed to water but when subject to be rained on, or to rest in a moist soil it soon warps, twists and becomes worse than useless To fit it for use on the road it is therefore subjected to a process called "Burnettizing" so named from the inventor The principle of this preparation consists in exhausting the air and eliminating the sap from the timber in a vacuum and injecting into its fibres a preparation of zinc, by which it is rendered, in a measure, proof against the effects of moisture Of the durability of the wood when thus prepared, I cannot speak

THE TRAFFIC

Thus far are these roads completed the Eastern division for nearly 134 miles the Northern line 194 The trains on both roads are run, as yet, at but a low rate of speed it is to be hoped the managers will soon permit some acceleration The through traffic is already large, and daily increasing, and on the Eastern division, passing through so thickly populated a portion of the State of Kansas, the local traffic and trade form a considerable item in the profits of the road It is a good thing, as Sparrowgrass has it, to own stock in either, or both

THE CHICAGO AND NORTHWESTERN ROAD

Our distance from the East, from its letters, its newspapers, and all that makes life liveable in these solitudes, is thus much lessened by that iron benefactor—the steam engine On this route, however, one link is still wanting—a link of 100 miles or thereabouts leading eastward from Council Bluffs opposite Omaha City This space, now loosely filled by coach service, will, it is hoped, soon be firmly and closely bound to the Western road by the track now being laid by that far-reaching body, the Chicago and Northwestern road

IMPORTANCE OF THIS GRAND CONNECTING LINK

Of the importance of these roads to the whole country as a connecting link in peace and in war, between the Atlantic and the Pacific seaboard, it is needless to amplify—that speaks for itself But of its value to the people of this great betweenity of country no one can form an adequate opinion or conception who has not gone over it, studied its towns and villages and conversed with its inhabitants I have spoken of the blessing of fresh news private and public, as brought to us in letters and the papers Can you comprehend how much to us that is? I have discovered what it means, and I have found, too, how much more than that comes with the railway To say that it is a swift highway to civilization, to say that it brings all the comforts and luxuries of life to our doors, that it makes a speedy and certain market for the productions—mineral and agricultural—of the land these are but faint expressions of its results I see now that it brings new life to the land, that it animates and strengthens tenfold every power in it; that it is, in short, an infusion of new blood into the whole system quickening every current and stimulating every function You must come out here, as I have "go up and down the land, listen to the hopes and prayers of the people for the iron road and thus only learn the full meaning of the Pacific railroad.

The Body of Wilkes Booth.

CONTROVERSY CONCERNING THE BURIAL OF THE ASSASSIN.

The Louisville (Ky) Courier recently published the following paragraph

"Wilkes Booth, whose body Secretary Stanton took so much pains to dispose of, so that no man should ever know the spot where it was buried, is reported to be in Europe The story is that the man whom Boston Corbett so heroically shot and whose body Stanton refused to exhibit to any one that ever saw Booth, was a poor wretch hired by the assassins to personate Booth in order to facilitate the escape of the latter Whether there be or be not any truth in this story, it will never cease to be a suspicious circumstance connected with the fate of Wilkes Booth, that Stanton refusing to deliver the body that was brought up from Virginia to his friends, or even to let them look upon it."

Upon this the Cincinnati Union comments,

"During a couple of months from the time that Booth, the assassin of President Lincoln, was shot and killed by Boston Corbett, in the attempt to capture him, sensative stories like the above have been of of frequent occurrence, Of course there is not a shadow of truth in the tale of Booth being still alive. The body was fully recognized as being that of Booth although tales were told about it being taken secretly out to sea and sunk, and others about it being buried at midnight, in an obscure place, by two men employed by Government, and who were sworn to secrecy, yet facts known to but few, and carefully kept from the newspaper press, show that the body was given over to the relatives of Booth, and that it was buried either in New England or Canada.

"The facts as we had them at the time on authority not to be doubted are as follows

"A few days before the body of Booth so mysteriously disappeared, our informant, a resident of New York and favorably known as a dramatic writer, was called upon after bank hours to cash the draft of an undertaker a near neighbor, who stated that he had received an order from the Booth family to repair to Washington with a coffin, and there to receive the body of John Wilkes Booth, which would be surrendered to him on their order, and to convey it North for burial The undertaker said he would return and pass through New York with the body on Thursday evening or on Friday morning of the same week

"The morning after the undertaker left Washington the report came by telegraph that the body had mysteriously disappeared—that it had been secretly buried—one report said in an old field another in the Penitentiary yard and still another that it had been taken to the sea and sunk

The undertaker did not return to his family until some days had elapsed He came from the North but declined to give any information relative to the place where John Wilkes Booth, under another name, had been buried Should it get out, he said, the grave would be violated and the body removed and the family were naturally anxious that this should not be

"These facts coming to us from the source they did are more than sufficient to convince us, not only of the death of John Wilkes Booth but that his body with a pledge of secrecy freely given, and fully kept, was given over to his family for burial, and that, except the relatives of Booth and the undertaker, no living being knows where the last remains of John Wilkes Booth are interred No slab marks the last resting place of the assassin The man who dug the grave knew not for whom it was intended, and in the burial permit was inserted a false name In his unknown grave the assassin will lie until the grave gives up it sheeted dead, and all are called to judgment "

The President and members of the Cabinet with him called upon Mr Edward Bates, in St Louis, he being their old Cabinet associate in the administration of Mr Lincoln Mr Bates is rapidly declining in health, and it is feared he can not survive long

The Amendment Making Treason Odious

It is noticeable that they who oppose the constitutional amendment level their principal objections against the third section Following is this odious clause

No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress or elector of President and Vice President or hold any office, civil or military under the United States or under any State who having previously taken an oath, as a member of Congress or as officer of the United States or as a member of any State Legislature or as an executive or judicial officer of any State to support the Constitution of the United States shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid and comfort to the enemies thereof But Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each house, remove such disability

The San Francisco Examiner does not hesitate to say that should any Southern State voluntarily adopt the amendment, she would place herself beyond the pale of human sympathy There can be no doubt that should any Southern State adopt it and return to reason and loyalty she would immediately lose the sympathies of the Examiner and its whole party. But the South would regain the sympathy of the loyal North by the adoption of the amendment, and this is the only way she can regain it The North is resolved that this amendment shall go through And it is partly because it contains this section proscribing leading rebels that the North demands its adoption They who suppose that the loyal people of the nation have forgotten their resolution to make treason odious are grievously mistaken

The Copperhead papers rant furiously about the 'wickedness" of this attempt to "humiliate the South, and the Examiner tears a passion utterly to tatters in the endeavor to portray the ineffable disgrace which the adoption of the amendment will bring upon the leaders of the 'Lost Cause" The simpleness of these journals is as apparent as their sympathy with the rebellion They ought to know that the intention of this third section, so odious to them, is to disgrace the ringleaders of the rebellion and deprive them of all power to do further harm These persons have committed perjury as well as treason, and the country is not ready to approve of perjury by allowing men who are guilty of the crime an opportunity to repeat it. Why should those who have taken an oath to support the Constitution of the United States and wilfully violated it, be again trusted in positions where the oath of fealty is the only safeguard of the Government? When the country is ready to purchase perjury and treason, it will be time to accede to the present demands of the rebels and their political friends

Copious extracts from Southern journals are frequently given in the Copperhead papers declaring that the South will never adopt the amendment. The Examiner copies an article from the Richmond Enquirer, written in 'king Cambyses' vein," denouncing the North for attempting to force such a measure upon the South The Southern States, the Enquirer protests, will not accept the terms of Congress So we were told they would not submit to the abolition of slavery. So they declared they would never yield to the "Yankee invaders." But, suppose they take this amendment on the same terms as they took the former one abolishing slavery? It will not be more difficult to consent this time than it was then Declamation against this amendment will not effect more than it did against the other. As the North is resolved to make treason odious, to humiliate and disgrace leading rebels, it is determined that this amendment shall be ratified. The arguments which its opponents make against it are reasons which weigh much with the Northern States in favor of its adoption

VALOROUS POET —The Old Guard is a monthly magazine published in New York, the only periodical of the kind that the Democracy can boast of. It professes devotion to the "political principles of 1776 and 1787," and a still stronger devotion to the memory of the late rebel confederacy. Its Democracy is unquestioned and unquestionable "A born poet" in the district of Abbeville, South Carolina, effuses the following stanza, with plenty more of the same sort, for its columns

In the dust in the dust, the night is upon her,
But her history is as bright as the gems of the sky
And her long roll of names is resplendent with honor
We'll strike and regain our lost freedom or die

By the word "her" in the first line, this poetic Democrat means the defunct confederacy Now, isn't it strange that the person whose divine rage thus overflows his soul, whose indignant grief and ramping valor thus speak ore rotundo, didn't "strike and die" when Sherman's bummers were on their excursion through the sacred and classic district of Abbeville? Wouldn't it have been altogether more decent for him to have yielded up his life when opportunity offered than to talk about fighting and death, now that her humorous ladyship, Fortune, is by to teach him safety? When his enemies were at hand, the fellow no doubt "carried himself away with as quick dexterity, and roared for mercy, and still ran and roared, as you ever heard a calf." And now he sings in defiant tones, "We'll strike and regain our lost freedom or die!" Whatever befall, we may be sure that there is one poetic Democrat safe from immolation

SOUTH CAROLINA IN PERPLEXITY —Prominent politicians of South Carolina are urging Gov Orr to carry the constitutional amendment through the Legislature. Gov Orr informs them that he is unalterably opposed to it The only explanation that we can imagine for this singular complication is, that Gov Orr "swung round the circle" with Johnson & Seward's Doolittle at Philadelphia, got as thoroughly dazed in the operation as either of the three, and hence, is as firmly bent as either of them on butting his brains out in a tilt against the 'logic of events' The "prominent politicians" have not swung round the circle, have not had the dead virus of their former treason revivified by personal contact with Andrew Johnson, as Gov Orr has, and hence they probably look at matters in the light of cooler reason and with a view to the best interests of their State. Gov Orr doubtless believes in the omnipotence of Andrew Johnson, the "prominent politicians" probably do not Gov Orr, enchanted by the ribald song of self glorification which Johnson has been and is bawling, is unable to hear the emphatic voice of the people as spoken through the elections everywhere held as yet the "prominent politicians" probably hear it very distinctly and know what it means Gov Orr no doubt, has full faith in the President's promised coup d etat in favor of Southern representative domination in Congress the "prominent politicians," remembering the stern unswerving integrity of the Northern people as manifested through the war, cannot so readily see the feasibility of that scheme Hence there seems to be a very material difference between Gov Orr and the other prominent politicians of his State about the policy of supporting Johnson's swinging round the-circle policy

The Copperheads don't want Jeff Davis hung Not a few of them keep crying out "Thad Stevens is a traitor, hang him When Pontius Pilate was making a speech in Judea and suggesting the propriety of releasing the prisoner then on trial, the crowd cried out, "Not this man but Barrabbas"

General Butler will be a member of the Fortieth Congress It would be safe to say that he will prove a thorn in the side of the "humble individual"

New Plan to aid Immigration

A letter to [illegible] merchant of San Francisco has published a communication in one of the journals of that city under the caption 'The way to get Ships and Population at the same time' [illegible] which he argues in favor of a combined effort in all parts of this coast to provide means to secure large immigrations from the East and elsewhere He calls upon the farmers, miners manufacturers or money lenders mechanics steamship companies and all other [illegible] interested here to form into one grand organization for the accomplishment of the desired object That associated very small subscriptions from individuals would in the aggregate be very large sums which could then be expended under the direction of experienced men for the furtherance of the scheme We give a small portion of his article

We all remember what vast sums were forwarded to our brothers in arms by the Sanitary Commission a very large portion of which was subscribed by associations throughout the State in sums frequently as small as twenty five cents monthly I speak of this merely to show that those least favored pecuniarily can when organized perform wonders.

The merchants and business men of this city are taking a step in the right direction They have organized under a late law, with a capital of $250 000 (2 500 shares of $100 each) the stock all having been subscribed for and [illegible] per cent paid in Their building or Exchange, is fast approaching completion, and is now owned by from two to three hundred subscribers. It is estimated that the net revenue from the Exchange will be from $4,000 to $5 000 monthly the most or nearly all from a rental of room not needed for exchange purposes which sum will pay a fair interest on the investment, besides providing for a great public want, which latter induced I imagine many to subscribe out of a liberal public spirit more than from a promise of gain for the same reason I am led to believe that the majority of the subscribers would be willing to divide, or dispose of their stock in such manner as would best promote the public good If this can be done then let the stock be divided among 2 [illegible]00 persons or if they can be found among 5 000, dividing the stock into shares of $50 each, then the great organization would be complete and we would be in readiness for any enterprise; we would then care nothing for a dividend on $50 and could expend our $4 000 or $5 000 monthly or if the necessity was pressing a donation of five dollars per month would give us a fund of $25 000 monthly with which our population might be doubled in a short time and ships with inward cargoes of immigrants, would soon relieve our granaries by outward cargoes of produce

On examining this plan it looks as if there might be something in it to recommend it to general attention Looking at it from a business stand point its author believes it to be entirely practicable That such an association as he speaks of would be able to accomplish great results is not for a moment doubtful the only question is whether such an organization could be formed for such a purpose It is a subject in which this State is not less deeply interested than California; for if such an enterprise should succeed there, its influence and effects would soon be felt here and elsewhere throughout the States and Territories of the Pacific

In the two months preceding the 18th of September the New York Tribune increased its circulation nearly 60 000 copies This is without a parallel in journalism The Tribune's circulation at the date given amounted to 475 750 copies per week; its revenues from subscriptions being $750 000 per year If we add to this (what is probably near the mark) $400,000 for advertising receipts we shall find the income of the Tribune to be $1,180,000 per year, a sum that will enable the company to print a newspaper far ahead of any other in this country. The New York Times, Raymond's paper, one year ago was ahead of the Tribune in prosperity, is now a rapidly waning institution

CONVERTS —Forty nine wagons loaded with 300 Norwegians, recently arrived at Salt Lake City, as converts to Mormonism

FROM UTAH AND THE PLAINS

The Salt Lake Vedette of the 18th furnishes the following items:

EXECUTION OF A MURDERER

Yesterday, at Tooele, Utah, Robert Sutton, alias Thos. Clark, paid the penalty of his crime, for murdering Frederick White a few weeks ago at Faust's Station, Tooele county, (not at Stockton Rush Valley as incorrectly stated some days since.) The culprit was legally tried in the county court of Tooele before Judge Rowberry, and found guilty of murder, and was then sentenced to be shot, on the 10th of October, between the hours of ten and three o clock, which sad fate was executed at eleven yesterday

GOLD FROM MONTANA

E Creighton's train from Montana brought down here to him 200 lbs of gold dust, about forty thousand dollars worth, coin valuation Montana gulches are not played out yet!

STEALING TELEGRAPH WIRE

Tuesday evening a band of Indians cut the wire between Deer Creek and La Bonta. The operator went out and found they had packed off a large piece of wire, and a smoke in the direction of La Bonta led him to believe that the station at that point had been captured.

SILVER FROM PAHRANAGAT

We were recently shown, by His Excellency, Governor Durkee, who has lately returned from Pahranagat Silver Mining District,—two shining silver lumps which were got from less than a half ton of ore by Mr Mills from the "Green Monster" Lodge, partly owned by a New York company One of these bullion chunks weighed forty ounces It contained about four ounces of gold The governor is satisfied that the Pahranagat country, be it in southwestern Utah or southeastern Nevada, as the case may be is one of the very richest mining areas in the West and will so prove to be before many seasons hence Much industry and mining enterprise is exhibited there this fall, and a large amount of capital is coming thither from the East

FROM THE COLORADO RIVER

Mr Edwin Lobach arrived in this city from Pahranagat Monday and reports that two steamers from San Francisco have arrived at Colville, bringing with them the quartz mills of Messrs Congar, Raymond and others.

ATTACK ON A TRAIN BY HIGHWAYMEN

The Kearney Herald of the 6th says several highwaymen attacked a mule train between Atchison and Kearney last Friday, killing Mr Grover —one of the teamsters and wounding Mr Lard, another teamster They were finally repulsed, without capturing any of the stock

NEBRASKA ELECTION

The latest news by private dispatches is that Nebraska has gone Republican, the railroad is now finished to Plum Creek, and the Indians are on the outbreak all along the line.

STATE ITEMS

We are glad to have the means of comforting our Democratic contemporaries by informing them of the whereabouts of their old confrere, [illegible] We learn from the Appeal that the saintly [illegible] and [illegible] Democratic editor is at Marysville California [illegible] We judge that he has however turned his back on his Democratic friends [illegible] taking an active part in the teachers' institute late in session at Marysville

The [illegible] boasts of a glorious mammoth apple [illegible] whereat the Reporter [illegible] which measured 14½ [illegible] and weighed two pounds. Neither of them is [illegible] the variety is as worthless as a frost-bitten gourd

The entire property valuation of this State at the last assessment in full was $24 [illegible] 62 4 or a little more than $38 [illegible] each man [illegible] State We cannot be said to be in a poverty stricken [illegible]

[illegible] Wm Roberts, late of Salem [illegible] a tour of observation to Salt Lake [illegible] field for Missionary labors. We notice [illegible] that he had just returned to that city

PROGRESS OF COLORADO —Eight years ago tomorrow the first handful of white settlers sank their picks in the sands of Cherry Creek in Colorado, and to day that great and growing territory commands a civilization second to no State in old New England Its mines and mining enterprises have attracted millions and millions of American and English capital Its late agricultural and mechanical fair was worthy of the Empire State Its public free schools are respectable among the average in the Republic and its scores of handsome churches are a glory to the great Far West In either, or in all these features of true progress how meagre is this enslaved Mormondom of near thrice its age!—Salt Lake Vedette

THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN.

The Weekly Oregonian is published this morning. It contains the latest telegraphic news from the East and Europe—a selection of the best articles appearing in the Daily Oregonian,—full and reliable news from the Mines, and the most copious commercial information published by any paper in the State.

The average amount of reading matter in the Weekly Oregonian is double that published by any other journal in Oregon; and in the particular of Commercial statistics and the Markets we aim to make it the most reliable, more especially in matters pertaining to Oregon interests.

☞ Single copies 12½ cents, or $3 50 per year, to any part of the United States, or British Columbia.

Recorder's Court.—In Recorder's Court yesterday Samuel Nathan was arrested upon the charge of having committed an assault and battery upon Isaac Bergman. It appeared that Nathan and Bergman had a difficulty and high words ensued, when Nathan gave Bergman a punch in the bread basket which settled the muss. An individual who testified that he saw the row, and that he saw Nathan move his fist quickly in the direction of Bergman, when Mr. B. placed both hands on the part affected and bowed profoundly. The fistic ability of Mr. Nathan being fully established, he was fined $20 and costs.—Chas. Hanley was arrested upon the charge of larceny. It appears Hanly borrowed of complainant, R. C. Miller a carpet sack, which was loaned him with the full consent of its owner. Miller asked Hanly if he was not done with the carpet sack and if he would not return it. Hanly replied that he would. The matter remained in this situation until the day of the sailing of the Oriflamme when Miller made his complaint and had Hanly arrested. There was no evidence that the defendant was intending to leave on the steamer or that it was his intention to defraud the anxious owner of his carpet sack, worth, at a liberal valuation, the sum of $1 50. It was found that there was no grounds for the complaint, and the defendant was discharged. This was undoubtedly a malicious prosecution, and the complaining witness should be held to answer.

Schiller Anniversary Celebration.—The first celebration in Portland, of the birth-day of the German poet, dramatist and historian, Johann Christoph Friedrich von Schiller, will be held at Turn Verein Hall on Saturday night, 10th inst., under the auspices of the Portland Turnverein. The exercises are to consist, as we are informed, of the Fest Marsch, vocal music—a quartette—by the Germania Saengerbund, an Oration by the President, Mr. J. J. Caliebe; to be followed by speeches and sentiments, and it concludes in the evening with a social reunion. Preparations for the celebration are now in active progress. Schiller, in honor of whose memory these festivities are projected, was the associate and fast friend of Goethe, with whom, as a poet, he divided the suffrages of Germany, though the palm of greatness has been accorded by English readers to the latter. It is perhaps doubtful whether Goethe or Schiller is seated most firmly in the German heart. But whatever his rank, while "Wallenstein," "William Tell" and his many other works of almost equal poetic inspiration, remain to be read, Schiller's memory will always be green, and the anniversaries of his birth will never fail to be be celebrated by his countrymen.

Found.—There was found Tuesday evening in the woods, beyond Robinson's Hill, a carpet bag that had evidently been rifled of its contents and thrown away, after the purloiners had taken out the articles of value which it contained. The following is a description of the carpet sack and the contents found: The sack is of the common carpeting, ornamented with colored flowers, near the hasp is two leathern straps and buckles; tied onto one of the leathern handles was a leather tag, marked in ink with the name "P. R. Kennody." In it there was an old bible containing the name "P. R. Kennedy," a back memorandum book, evidently used by a laboring man to keep an account of expenses, etc., and marked with the same name; a Catholic prayer book, a razor strop, a small compass, several bottles of medicine [illegible] from Gross and Hartleib, and four purses—a very large one, marked with the name Jno. V. Bush & Co., Marysville, and on reverse side marked with the name Reed & Co., Sacramento. Beyond the finding of these articles nothing is known. It is hoped that an investigation will be made which will unravel the mystery. It is evident that there has been a robbery [illegible], and perhaps worse.

River.—Lieut. Huer and Col. McCraken, chairman of the City Council's committee on river improvements, returned last evening upon the tug Celilo. This party made a thorough examination of the ship channels, the nature of the soil, the depth of the soundings, the working of the dredger and its tenders. Lieut. Huer was well pleased with his examination, and we have no doubt his report will reflect much credit upon the action [illegible] in the matter of the improvement of the river. It seems to be a settled question that when once the channel is [illegible] the nature of the clay is such that it will not wash or fill up, and the judgment of all who [illegible] the channel is that the work once done thoroughly will require no additional labor or expense to keep it.

California Lustre.—We would call attention to the [illegible] of C. H. Myers of the California Lustre. In 1849 a certain yellow lustre attracted thousands [illegible] and raised her to the rank of a wealthy and powerful State as if by magic. Nineteen years ago there was discovered in Mount Diablo a substance, the secret of which is known to but two living persons, the wonderful California lustre which is now brought to the notice of the public. Its properties is wonderful; all articles of metal are cleansed at a touch. See Dr. S. S. Myers and he will take pleasure in testing for you its [illegible]. He will quickly polish for you such metal articles as you may possess.

[illegible]—The steamer Fidelity, Erskine commander, left Victoria at 12 M. on Sunday, the 28th instant; was detained three days by stress of weather at Neah Bay, Straits of Fuca; arrived at Astoria 3 P. M., 1st instant; left at 4 P. M.; was detained in the Columbia river below here by fog, fourteen hours; arrived at Portland at 5 A. M. She brings 8 cabin passengers and 25 others.

Freight List.—The steamer Fidelity brings the following freight: P. M., 3 baskets wine; New Columbia Hotel, 2 casks ale; S. & Co., 11 casks oil, 13 pkgs [illegible] 1 paper parcel; H. Martin, 1 pkge clothing, and A. [illegible], 1 pkge tin-ore, 1 tin urn.

New Styles.—Meussdorffer, of the Pioneer Hat Store has just returned from San Francisco, bringing a large addition to their already fine stock. All of the best and newest styles are represented. We notice the Esquimaux and [illegible] driving hats. Go and see.

Fire.—The woods east of this city, apparently on the summit of Mount Tabor, have been on fire for a day or two past. Last night it presented a magnificent spectacle.

Weather Bound.—The W. L. Richardson has been weather bound at the mouth of the river since the 20th inst. It was hoped she would be able to get across the bar to-day.

Quit.—Prof. [illegible] Butjes, for many years a popular teacher of music in this city has discontinued the practice of that profession, and will engage in a different business in this city. He has been a faithful and efficient teacher.

Wheat.—The steamer Senator made yesterday, after her arrival from Oregon City, a trip to Springville for a large lot of wheat which will be delivered at the Standard mills upon her trip up this morning.

Auction Sale.—It will be remembered that Mr. A. B. Richardson will sell to-day a piece of valuable real estate in addition to his large stock of groceries, liquors, &c., &c.

New Hall.—The Multnomah Lodge of Good Templars will meet in their new hall this evening, when, we understand, their newly elected elected officers will be duly installed.

Detained.—The steamer Oriflamme did not leave at eight o'clock as advertised, but remained at her wharf until two o'clock yesterday morning.

Treasure.—Wells, Fargo & Co's messenger from the north brought last evening $10,000 in treasure.

Among the Mourners.—John M. Botts has written a humorous letter to a secession acquaintance, on the Bread-and-butter Philadelphia Convention, which has found its way into print. He says:

I am spoiling to hear some secesh talk about the Philadelphia Convention and platform; how the whole South, like whipped spaniels, were made to take back seats with mouths closed; not allowed to speak a word; to eat dirt; to wallow in the mire; to thank God that the divine institution was destroyed;" "that the Union was more sacred than before the rebellion;" "that there was no right in any State or combination of States to secede;" that the rebel debt must be repudiated and the national debt paid; "that the national soldiers must be taken care of and rewarded for whipping the South;" and all this said and done, this humiliating self-stultification submitted to, for a little "bread-and-butter"—a mere crumb from the public crib.

No Reptiles in Newfoundland.—As a natural and somewhat curious feature, it is mentioned that the island of Newfoundland, though abounding in game, is not infested with reptiles. Captain Charles Chearnley writes:

"In Newfoundland there is not a snake, toad, frog or reptile of any sort. There is not a squirrel in the island, no porcupine, moose or minx; whereas, with the exception of the porcupine, wanting in Cape Breton, Nova Scotia, all these creatures are found in the neighboring provinces. The Arctic hare is found here in Newfoundland, but neither in Cape Breton nor Nova Scotia." One Captain Hardy calls attention to other deficiencies. He visited the island in midsummer, and could not help remarking that fire-flies were not to be seen there, while in Nova Scotia they swarmed by thousands, their scintillations adding beauty to quiet night. The island is full of bogs and swamps, which renders it difficult to account for the total absence of reptiles.

Money.—Men work for it, starve for it, lie for it, die for it, and Harmon Bros. advertise to sell coats, pants, vests, and gents' furnishing goods for it.

A Relic of Gen. McPherson.—G. Elmore Burgess, late a captain in the Confederate army, writes to the National Intelligencer that he has in his possession a belt reputed to have been the property of the late Gen. McPherson. In his note he says: "I would have made known this fact long ere this, but I was not positively certain whether it was really the property of Gen. McPherson, nor am I yet; but if it is genuine, I am confident it will be prized and cherished by those who are near and dear to him, as he was loved and admired not only by his own soldiers, but by every true soldier of the Southern army. It may not be amiss to state that I came in possession of the belt immediately after the battle in front of Atlanta; having bought it from a soldier of the Texas Brigade. Any relatives of the deceased entitled to it can obtain the belt by addressing me at Chunnennuggee, Macon county, Alabama."

The "Martha Washington Hair Restorer" is the best thing out of the kind.

Exceedingly Effective.—Brown's Bronchial Troches are excellent lozenges for the relief of Hoarseness or Sore Throat. They are certainly exceedingly effective. We have known several instances in which troublesome Coughs have ceased very speedily after one or two Troches were taken.—Christian World, London, Eng.

LOVELY PEARLS.—ELLSWORTH & CARDWELL, 80 First street, have recently added some beautiful SUN PEARLS to their collection, and continue as usual to lead all others for fine PHOTOGRAPHS, ALBUM PICTURES, CARTES DE VISITE, MELAINOTYPES, etc. The excellence of the work done at this GALLERY receives the daily approbation of the public. The weather makes no difference in taking a picture.

ANOTHER WAR THREATENED.—As the Fall trade begins, there seems to be no end to the competitors for low prices, and it is therefore to the interest of the public to know that Messrs. KOHN & FISHEL, at the ST. LOUIS STORE, NO. 111 FRONT STREET, sell the best quality of Custom-Made Clothing, Boots, Shoes, Hats, Caps, &c., at such low prices as to astonish the oldest inhabitant. "Competition is the life of trade," therefore call in and examine the stock and compare it with the prices elsewhere.

BUCHTEL'S PREMIUM GALLERY was represented at the State Fair, as it always has been, and did take the FIRST PREMIUM as usual. His work stands for itself and does not require bombastic puffs in self-written cards, to recommend itself to the public. All kinds of work in the art furnished in the very latest styles.

What Experienced Mill Men think of the Portable Steam Saw Mills built by the Oregon Iron Works:

Portland, Oct. 18th, 1866.

To the Oregon Iron Works:

Gentlemen:—The Portable Steam Saw Mill which we purchased of you last spring for Pen d'Oreille Lake, has been in operation during the past season, and has more than met our expectations in its performance. With three men, we turn out from three to four thousand feet, and with five men, five thousand feet per day of ten hours; and we take pleasure in recommending these mills as the most SUBSTANTIAL, DESIRABLE AND PERFECT MILLS IN USE, and especially adapted to the wants of this country, on account of their compact form, ease of transportation and the facility with which they can be set up and put in operation. Although subjected to the most severe tests, no repairs have been required.

A toilet delight! The ladies' treasure and gentlemen's boon! The "sweetest thing" and largest quantity. Manufactured from the rich Southern Magnolia. Used for bathing the face and person, to render the skin soft and fresh, to prevent eruptions, to perfume clothing, &c.

It overcomes the unpleasant odor of perspiration.
It removes redness, tan, blotches, &c.
It cures nervous headache and allays inflammation.
It cools, softens and adds delicacy to the skin.
It yields a subdued and lasting perfume.
It cures musquito bites and stings of insects.
It contains no material injurious to the skin.
It is what every body should have. Sold everywhere.

Try the Magnolia Water once and you will use no other Cologne, Perfumery, or Toilet Water afterwards.

DEMAS BARNES & CO.,
Props. Exclusive Agents, New York.
Sold by all Dealers on the Pacific Coast.

Mustang Liniment.

Intrinsic virtue alone could ever insure the success met by the Mexican Mustang Liniment. For Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Cuts, Bruises, Burns, Swellings, etc., upon man, or Spavin, Ringbone, Poll Evil, Scratches, Strains, etc., upon beasts, its effects are instantaneous, soothing and wonderful. It saves time, suffering and expense to have it always in the house. None genuine unless in a steel plate label, with signature of G. W. Westbrook, and having stamp of Demas Barnes & Co. over the top. Sold by all Dealers.

Lyon's Kathairon.

Lyon's Kathairon is a most delightful article as a Hair Dressing—to eradicate scurf and dandruff, to keep it clean, soft, and silky, and the head cool. It also prevents the hair from falling off and turning gray, and promotes its growth upon prematurely bald heads. It is sold by all dealers. E. THOMAS LYON, N. Y.

Lyon's Extract Jamaica Ginger.

Lyon's Extract of Pure Jamaica Ginger—for Indigestion, Nausea, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Cholera Morbus, Flatulency, etc., where a warming stimulant is required. Its careful preparation and entire purity make it a cheap and reliable article for culinary purposes. Sold everywhere, at 50 cts. per bottle. Ask for "Lyon's" Pure Extract. Take no other.

Caution.—See that the private U. S. stamp of Demas Barnes & Co. is over each bottle. None other is genuine.

Lyon's Flea Powder.

Death to Fleas.—It is well known that Lyon's genuine Magnetic Powder will perfectly destroy everything in the shape of fleas, ticks, bed-bugs, roaches, etc.; that it is perfect poison to the insect tribe, but entirely harmless to the human species and domestic animals. The genuine has the signature of E. Lyon, and the private stamp of Demas Barnes & Co. Anything else of this kind is an imitation or counterfeit. Any druggist will procure the genuine if you insist you will have no other.

G. VENARD,
CHARTRES COFFEE!
Manufactory Established in June, 1851.
STEAM POWER, NOS. 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

The Missouri Democrat has this hit at the weathercock of the New York Times: "A milliner is after Raymond. In the New York Herald of the 5th inst., a milliner advertises for a 'first-class trimmer!'"

The London Standard having stated that Goldwin Smith was unfit to associate with gentlemen, because he was once the guest of General Butler, Mr. Smith writes a sharp letter to the editor, and vindicates General Butler's name from the malignant attack of his enemies.

The trick of selling sugar largely mixed with sand is becoming very common, and it is asserted that thirty-three per cent. of the sugar sent North from New Orleans is thus adulterated.

Of the whole number of articles described in an illustrated catalogue of a manufacturer of agricultural implements in Berlin, Prussia, one-third are American inventions.

The rebel General Wright, of Georgia, says he was on the committee that drafted the resolutions in the Johnson Philadelphia Convention in favor of duly rewarding Union soldiers, and that he took care to have them so worded as not to commit the Government; for, if the South ever gets into power again, all pensions to Union soldiers shall be cut off unless the Confederate soldiers are put on the same footing.

Governor Parsons of Alabama, the eulogist of Jeff. Davis, and author of a law punishing Alabama loyalists with death, was introduced to the New York Democratic meeting on Monday evening, and immediately after, an original ode was sung, entitled "God save the Union!" The connection was peculiarly appropriate and suggestive.

A new satirical writer, "John Pesky, of Peskyville," speaking of the Cleveland Convention of apostate soldiers and sailors, politely says: "There are no Andersonville prisoners here."

The postal service in the Southern States proves to be very generally re-established. The Post-office Department has concluded a contract for a weekly mail, by steam, between Galveston, Texas, to Brazos Santiago, thus making the connection immediately with the present military position at Brownsville.

A dispatch dated Oswego, Oct. 3d, says: By a passenger from Albion, Orleans county, we learn that there was great excitement in that town yesterday on account of an aeronaut making an ascension in a balloon, his intention to descend at Syracuse. The balloon picked up by the schooner Active is probably the one that went up at Albion. Nothing is yet known of the aerial traveler.

The steamer Esmeralda, Captain Rodgers, has been up the Colorado to Colville, in Utah, 120 miles beyond all previous trips. This takes her within 400 miles of Salt Lake City. She towed a barge of 100 tons of freight. Boats can make the trip from the month of the river in ten days.

A man got tipsy and indulged in a night's sleep in a country graveyard. On opening his eyes in the morning he noticed the motto on a gravestone, "He is not dead but sleepeth." "When I am dead," he remarked, "I'll own up, and have no such statement as that above my carcass."

A process has been discovered by which india rubber can be bleached pure white and after having been hardened can be used for the manufacture of collars and cuffs. It is difficult, one which has been long sought for, and is done by a chemical process which is said to be fatal to the workmen engaged therein, unless protection is afforded them. So fearfully dangerous are the fumes arising from the combination of the required chemicals that the workmen are encased in armor and are supplied with pure air from other apartments than the one in which they labor. If the manufacture of these goods be so dangerous, the wearing of them cannot be over safe or healthy.

It is said that Garibaldi's wounds are breaking out afresh, and it is feared he will have to suffer the amputation of one foot.

Larkin G. Mead, Jr., the eminent Vermont sculptor, who returns to his studies in Florence within a few weeks, has recently been in consultation with Professor Clark on the subject of the memorial which Amherst College proposes to erect to her Alumni and students who fell in the war. It is to be a group of bronze statuary, and to cost not less than $25,000. Some of the best sculptors in the country will be invited to contribute to its designs.

A political meeting was lately held at Frederick city, Maryland, in favor of the President's policy. The speakers and those assembled, appeared to have an idea that the "Confederacy" still existed, or that it would again rise from its ashes like the fabled phoenix. Cheers, loud and long were given for Jeff. Davis, Beauregard, Lee, Forrest, etc. To add eclat to the occasion, a six horse wagon from the country entered the town with a rebel flag fastened to the head of each horse.

The returns of importations of wheat into England for the last season show Russia contributed 20 per cent. of the total, while the proportion from the United States was only two per cent. The quantity from France was 23 per cent., from Germany 25 per cent., and from all other countries 21 per cent.

A grand celebration of the colored people in honor of Lincoln's emancipation proclamation, took place recently at Leffert's and Myrtle Avenue Parks, Brooklyn, N. Y. An oration by J. P. Jones, the reading of the proclamation, dancing and other amusements, comprised the proceedings.

Gen. Harris, Gen. Shelby, Gen. Price, and all those American soldiers who were living on lands given them by Maximilian, have been compelled to abandon their farms and take shelter in Cordova. Gen. Shelby is running a wagon train from Paso del Mucho to the city of Mexico. The undertaking affords him a good living. Gen. Hindman is in Cordova practicing law. Ex-Congressman (Judge) Oldman of Texas, is engaged in writing a history of the war, together with taking photographs as a means of support. He is doing a thriving business, as his camera is of his own invention, and the first of its kind ever operated. Its peculiarity is that it enables him to give the Mexicans a very pale picture, which is said to suit them exactly, as they have a desire to appear as white as possible.

PEG-LEG SMITH.—The Nevada Gazette gives the following biographical item which is characteristic of this old mountaineer:

Peg Leg Smith, whose death was recently announced, as most of our readers are aware, was an old mountaineer, and one of the most noted of his class. He was the cotemporary of Greenwood, Bill Williams, Walker, Joe Meek, Black Harris, and the older class of mountaineers, and his active career had well nigh closed when Fremont made his first trip to the Rocky Mountains. For many years he has lived in California, but those who have only seen him here as a poor, broken down old man, can have but little idea of what he was in his younger days, when by his superior sagacity and coolness he was instinctively chosen the leader, either in an Indian fight or a horse-stealing raid. Many stories are told in the mountains of his daring achievements and hair-breadth escapes, some of which are doubtless fictitious, but his real adventures, if properly written out, would fill an interesting volume. One of his most successful and profitable adventures occurred about forty years ago, when, with some dozen followers, he made a trip to Southern California. Either from some misbehavior on their part, or on account of a suspicion as to their intentions, the Californians ordered Peg-Leg and his party to leave the country. They left, as ordered, but took with them between three and four hundred horses. The Californians immediately raised a considerable force and started in pursuit of the raiders, following them through a pass of the Sierras. Being well mounted, the Californians were rapidly gaining on Peg-Leg's party, who were encumbered with their pack animals and the large drove of stolen horses. Knowing they would be overtaken, Peg-Leg resorted to strategy. After crossing a desert of some twenty or thirty miles, they came to a stream of water, where the party divided, four of the men being sent ahead with the horses and the remainder secreting themselves among the willows along the bank of the stream. As anticipated, the thirty Californians dismounted for a drink as soon as they reached the water; whereupon Peg-Leg and his party rushed from their hiding places with an Indian war-whoop, and ere the astonished Californians recovered from their surprise, their horses were stampeded and driven off by the daring mountaineers. The Californians were thus left on foot, and how they got back was never known. Peg-Leg and his followers returned to the mountains, with what they considered their honestly acquired property. This incident was related to us in 1845, at Fort Hall, by an old mountaineer, who was one of the party.

For the year ending September 22d, says the Philadelphia Ledger, over 212,000 gallons of petroleum were exported from the United States, while the export of that article for the preceding year was a little over one-third as much. To show the importance of this trade to Philadelphia, it states that up to September 1st, 16 ships, 76 barks, 33 brigs and 3 schooners, laden entirely with this staple of Pennsylvania, have cleared for foreign countries from that port, making a total of 122 vessels in eight months.

GEORGE PEABODY AND THE PRESIDENT.—A Boston correspondent of a Western paper says:

It may interest you to know George Peabody's political views. He has favored Johnson's policy of immediate reconstruction, but the President's extravagant and offensive speeches and outrageous conduct generally have alarmed and estranged him.

FOR IMPEACHMENT.—The Stockton Independent earnestly advocates the impeachment of the "incumbrance" in the Executive chair, and closes by remarking:

It is idle to talk about any milder terms of compromise. Milder terms mean a complete surrender of the majority to the minority—of Congress to the President—of loyalty to rebellion. If the Southern minority cannot trust their cause in the hands of the great majority of the nation, they ought not to demand that the majority trust them. The Congressional party is represented by 23 States and 20,000,000 of white people. The President by but 12 States and 7,000,000 of white people. He has appealed from Congress to the people, and the judgment is against him. He now appeals from this judgment by threats against Congress; and for this he ought to be unseated. No public interest North or South can lose by his impeachment. He has become the stumbling block in the way of friends and enemies alike, and sound policy as well as justice demands that some other man should fill the office he now disgraces. We should have had no serious troubles with the South but for this man's moral obliquity and ingrained treachery; and we will venture that Mr. Foster, or Mr. Colfax, or Mr. Chase, would not occupy the Presidential office six months until every misunderstanding between the two sections would be healed, and the Government thoroughly reconstructed in a manner as satisfactory to all reasonable men at the South as consistent with justice and sound policy.

The London Times comments at some length upon the immense addition to the wear and tear of commercial life which the cable is likely to create. When merchants received one mail a day they had the afternoon to themselves. When they received two, their whole day was gone, and when the telegraph came, their evenings went also. Now, it may be fairly expected, considering the vast spaces traversed by the ocean cables, with the difference of time at the points of arrival and departure, their nights will go also. In this country, however, the change will be less severely felt than in England. There are few merchants in America who are not already working to their utmost capacity, or who could, if a thousand fortunes depended on it, take one hour more from sleep or eating, or social intercourse. Where is all going to end, and what kind of life the "merchant of the future" will lead, nobody knows, or pretends to know. From present appearances it would seem as if the commerce of the world would pass into the hands of a few great houses; that all the small dealers would be converted into clerks on salaries, and everything be done by a few vast combinations, conceived by half-a-dozen heads, the details being worked out by subordinates, possessing only a limited responsibility, and, therefore, suffering little from wear and tear.—The Nation.

CHARLES LAMB.—The following is from Barry Cornwall's Memoirs of that most delightful of English humorists, Charles Lamb:

The fact that distinguished Charles Lamb from other men was his entire devotion to one grand and tender purpose. There is, probably a romance involved in every life. In his life it exceeded that of others. In gravity, in acuteness, in his noble battle with a great calamity, it was beyond the rest. Neither pleasure nor toil ever distracted him from his holy purpose. Everything was made subservient to it. He had an insane sister, who in a moment of uncontrollable madness had unconsciously destroyed her own mother; and to protect and save his sister—a gentle woman, who had watched like a mother over his own infancy—the whole length of his life was devoted. What he endured, through the space of nearly forty years, from the incessant fear and frequent recurrence of his sister's insanity, can now only be conjectured. In this constant and uncomplaining endurance, and in his steady adherence to a great principle of conduct, his life was heroic.

Dr. Chapin's new church, in New York city, on Fifth Avenue, is nearly completed, and the congregation are expecting to occupy it early in November. It is built in the Gothic style of architecture, and without being profuse in ornament, has an imposing appearance. The plot of ground upon which it is built is 100 feet square, and is enclosed by a handsome iron railing. The building has a brown stone front, with a spire on the north side, and a tower (shorter than the spire) on the south side. The walls are composed of brick, and are of substantial thickness. The church itself is 80 feet wide and 100 feet in length, and will seat about 1,800 persons. The cost, exclusive of the ground, will be about $120,000.

A CURIOUS DISCOVERY.—An odd discovery was made in the village of Bonsall, near Bath, England, recently. The boarded floor of a room on the ground floor of a house in the Upper Town, was taken up for the purpose of being replaced by a new one, when the centre beam was found to be resting on 29 horses' skulls! The lower jaws were all gone, having been detached probably for the purpose of allowing them to rest more solidly, or otherwise having decayed away. There is a tradition in the village that a battle was once fought on Bonsall Moor, and it is inferred that these remains were obtained from thence.

The Mayor of Nantes is an intelligent individual. On the occasion of the recent visit of the Empress Eugene with her son, the Mayor asked the Prince Imperial: "What is your age, my Prince?" "I am ten," answered the Price. "So young, and already the son of the Emperor of the French!" exclaimed the Mayor, with great emphasis.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

WEEKLY REVIEW.

PORTLAND, FRIDAY, 2 P. M., Nov. 2, 1866.

We have but little change to note since our last. Business continues good, and our merchants have no cause to complain. Large freights continue to be sent up the Columbia river for the supply of our northern customers, and by private letter we learn that business on the upper Columbia has much improved—this tells decisively the difference between the rival routes to Montana—a few months ago our northern trade was very light and only to established customers, but the near approach of winter has brought renewed activity to the trade, new customers came and orders were pouring in. Freight is at this time much lower at Umatilla than it was a few months ago. All the goods in store have been forwarded, and the teamsters were offering at low rates to contract for the delivery of goods at the mining towns. All this goes to prove that goods can be transported more easily and cheaper than upon the Chico or Humboldt routes. When the near approach of winter had driven the teamsters from the Chico and Humboldt routes into winter quarters and their business was ended for the season, a very different state of affairs existed upon our route. Freighters appeared at Umatilla and took large freights and offered to take more at lower rates than was previously asked. We are doing well, remembering the great efforts made by California to obtain the trade, her steamboats and railroads carrying freight for this trade at a mere nominal figure, and sparing neither money or energy to build up the trade. The Indian troubles throughout our northern frontier has injured us greatly.

Our receipts of wheat and flour are rapidly increasing, owing to an increased demand for exportation. The steamer Fideliter took a good freight, mostly flour, to Victoria. The schooner Crosby cleared on the 1st inst. for Seattle with a full cargo of wheat and flour. The barks Eldridge and Falkinburg will both take Oregon flour to Honolulu. The steamer Oriflamme sailed yesterday with a large lot of flour, from the Standard and Imperial mills for the San Francisco market. Our San Francisco friends are largely exporting a surplus of wheat and flour at prices that brings a portion of the supply in the San Francisco market from Oregon. We note exports from San Francisco to Honolulu of apples, barley, flour, fruit, onions, potatoes, and in fact of almost every article of country produce. We have several vessels running direct and when the same articles of produce can be purchased more cheaply in Portland than in San Francisco we certainly ought to have a brisk trade with the Islands in the articles noted. We have certainly advanced from the old days of Oregon improvidence by importing direct our sugars, &c., and if we can establish this reciprocity of trade, we will then stand on the proper footing.

The New York correspondent of the Bulletin says that "commercial values, with limited exceptions, are materially higher than during the war, when the Gold premium was double what it is now. The consequence is the demand for merchandise and produce is rigidly consumptive—very few business men having the temerity to extend their operations much beyond the exigencies of the times. There is no indication of any material shading off to Gold, but the possibility of such a movement serves to inspire great caution in commercial circles. Hence trade continues spasmodic, and in most departments unsatisfactory. The Dry Goods department is a notable exception. The season was backward about commencing, but thus far it has been eminently prosperous. Prices, too, keep up remarkably well, there having been very little abatement in standard goods, while many descriptions are higher than they were at the opening of the season. This is especially true of Cotton goods, which have fully kept pace with the rise in the raw material. Middling upland Cotton has advanced to 39½@42c on the strength of continued unfavorable crop reports. Late Cable news advises us of a decided advance in Liverpool, and the market at this writing is very strong. Woolen goods, on the other hand, are depressed with the raw material, and unless there shall be a speedy rally in the latter, a decided fall in prices would seem to be inevitable."

From our San Francisco dispatches of Nov. 1st, we quote the following in relation to the Money markte:

Private telegrams quote gold in New York yesterday at 146@146¼; sterling 109¼@109½. Legal tenders are 71 buying and 71½ selling.

Domestic Produce Market.

PORTLAND, November 2, 1866.

We note that country produce is very plentiful. There is a heavy demand for Apples, and dealers are busily engaged in packing. There is a demand for Victoria—and as usual for the San Francisco market, where Oregon Apples rule A 1. Eggs have taken a sudden advance, owing to a limited supply—dealers paying from 40c to 42½c—retailing at 60c, and jobbing, packed for shipping at 50c per dozen. We quote:

CIRCULAR
To the Officers and Soldiers Oregon Volunteers.

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
SALEM, Oct. 23, 1866.

BY RECENT ACTS OF CONGRESS ALL OFFICERS of the Volunteer Service who were in Commission March 3d, 1865, and subsequently mustered out after April 9th, 1865, are entitled to three months extra pay proper.

Enlisted men are entitled to additional bounty in certain cases, by Acts of Congress of July 28th, 1866, and the following rules and regulations, together with the form of application adopted by the War Department, are published for the guidance and benefit of all concerned:

RULES AND REGULATIONS FOR THE PAYMENT OF BOUNTIES, UNDER THE ACT TO EQUALIZE BOUNTIES, APPROVED JULY 28, 1866.

WAR DEPARTMENT, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, September 16, 1866.

1. All applications shall be filed within the period of six months, from the 1st day of October, 1866, and before any payments are made shall be classified by regiments, battalions, or other separate organizations, and no application filed after that period shall be settled until after the former shall have been paid.
2. No application shall be entertained unless accompanied by the original discharge of the soldier and the affidavit required by the fourteenth section of the Act, and the further affidavit that he has not received, nor is he entitled to receive from the United States, under any laws or regulations prior to the Act of July 28, 1866, more than $100 bounty for any and all military service rendered by him during the late rebellion, over and above the amount therein claimed.
3. All applications for the additional bounty authorized by this Act from surviving soldiers shall be in the form hereinafter prescribed, and the evidence of identity shall be the same as is now required, and applications from the heirs of deceased soldiers shall be in the form now required by the Treasury Department.
4. As soon as the examination of the claims of any regiment, or other independent organization, shall have been properly acted upon the Paymaster General shall take the necessary steps for their prompt payment.
5. A register shall be kept in the Paymaster General's office, and also in the office of the Second Auditor, of all claims presented under the law, in which the claimants will be classified by regiments, etc. If the claims be allowed, the amount of bounty paid to such will be noted, and if rejected the cause of rejection will be distinctly stated.
6. In the applications for bounty, as required by the third of these rules, the affidavit shall state each and every period of service rendered by the claimant, and also that he never served otherwise than as herein stated.
7. Organizations irregularly in the service of the United States, or called out for special purposes, as State Militia, Home Guards, etc., and not included in the general bounty laws, are not included within the meaning of the Act.
8. Soldiers enlisted for "three years or during the war," who were discharged by reason of the termination of the war, shall be considered as having served out the period of their enlistment, and are entitled to bounty under this Act.
9. The minority of heirs, claimants for bounty under this Act, must be proven to have existed at the date of its passage. Parents shall receive jointly the bounty to which they may be entitled as heirs, unless the father has abandoned the support of his family, in which case it shall be paid to the mother. Non-residence in the United States shall not be a bar to the claim of heirs, who would otherwise legally inherit.

The provisions of the Act exclude from its benefits the following classes:

1. Those who, after serving the full period of their enlistment, were dishonorably discharged at its expiration.
2. Those discharged during enlistment by way of favor or punishment.
3. Those discharged on account of disability contracted in the service, but not occasioned by wounds received "in the line of duty," who shall not have previously served two or three years respectively at the time of discharge.
4. Those discharged on account of disability existing at the time of their enlistment.
5. The heirs of those who have died since their discharge of wounds or disease not contracted in the service and in the line of duty.
6. The surviving soldiers and heirs of deceased soldiers who, under previous laws, have received or are entitled to receive a bounty of more than $100 from the United States.
7. The surviving soldiers, as well as the heirs of deceased soldiers, when such soldiers have bartered, sold, assigned, loaned, transferred, exchanged or given away their final discharge papers, or any interest in the bounty provided by this or any other Act of Congress.
8. The Act of the 28th of July, 1866, creates no right of inheritance beyond those vested by the law under which these heirs received or were entitled to receive the original bounty, and debars certain classes, brothers and sisters of heirs that were entitled to receive the original bounty, from any claim for the additional bounty provided by this Act.

Respectfully referred to the Attorney General for his opinion on the point whether the rules and regulations as within amended are in conformity with law.

EDWIN M. STANTON,
September 14, 1866. Secretary of War.

I have examined these amended regulations, and am of opinion they are in conformity with law.

HENRY STANBERY,
September 15, 1866. Attorney General.

The foregoing rules and regulations are published for the information and guidance of all concerned.

By order of the Secretary of War.

E. D. TOWNSEND,
Assistant Adjutant General.

This is but a just acknowledgement of the services of our brave volunteers who have imperilled their lives upon a hundred battle fields, or have left home with all its dear associations, to defend our frontier and protect the lives of our citizens from the murderous attacks of a savage foe, and I sincerely desire that the brave volunteers of Oregon should receive the full benefit arising from this Act, and for whose benefit I have issued this Circular.

It will be necessary to strictly follow the foregoing rules and forms.

All applications must be made direct to the Second Auditor at Washington, D. C.

All Soldiers desiring that I should attend to this business for them will make application to this office either by letter or in person. Very respectfully,

Yours obediently,

SOMETHING NEW!
THE NEW LIGHT!
DANFORD'S
Atmospheric Coal Oil Gas Lamp!

ARTIFICIAL LIGHT OF SOME SORT, IS A UNIVERSAL necessity. A Safe, Cheap and Brilliant one is a Luxury—a luxury only enjoyed heretofore by those who live in large cities where Gas is used. Years of study and much capital have been exhausted in experiments to produce a lamp wherein the ordinary Kerosene or Coal Oil could be used without a chimney, and without unpleasant odor while in use. That fruitful source of expense, trouble and annoyance, the chimney, is in DANFORD'S COAL OIL GAS LAMP avoided. It is the most perfect Lamp and will entirely supersede all other Coal Oil Lamps; it is the cheapest artificial light that can be used, yielding the light of an ordinary six foot Gas burner for less than ½ cent per hour, or double the quantity of light of an ordinary Chimney Lamp, for one third the cost. It will burn when turned down to a taper-light, ten hours for a cent, is free from smoke, can be carried from room to room and the wind will not blow it out. These LAMPS will be on exhibition and for sale at the Music and Art Gallery of Shanahan & Dufrene, corner of Morrison and First streets.

The London Standard having stated that Goldwin Smith was unfit to associate with gentlemen, because he was once the guest of General Butler, Mr. Smith writes a sharp letter to the editor, and vindicates General Butler's name from the malignant attack of his enemies.

The trick of selling sugar largely mixed with sand is becoming very common, and it is asserted that thirty-three per cent. of the sugar sent North from New Orleans is thus adulterated.

Of the whole number of articles described in an illustrated catalogue of a manufacturer of agricultural implements in Berlin, Prussia, one-third are American inventions.

The rebel General Wright, of Georgia, says he was on the committee that drafted the resolutions in the Johnson Philadelphia Convention in favor of duly rewarding Union soldiers, and that he took care to have them so worded as not to commit the Government; for, if the South ever gets into power again, all pensions to Union soldiers shall be cut off unless the Confederate soldiers are put on the same footing.

Governor Parsons of Alabama, the eulogist of Jeff. Davis, and author of a law punishing Alabama loyalists with death, was introduced to the New York Democratic meeting on Monday evening, and immediately after, an original ode was sung, entitled "God save the Union!" The connection was peculiarly appropriate and suggestive.

The postal service in the Southern States proves to be very generally re-established. The Post-office Department has concluded a contract for a weekly mail, by steam, between Galveston, Texas, to Brazos Santiago, thus making the connection immediately with the present military position at Brownsville.

A dispatch dated Oswego, Oct. 3d, says: By a passenger from Albion, Orleans county, we learn that there was great excitement in that town yesterday on account of an aeronaut making an ascension in a balloon, his intention to descend at Syracuse. The balloon picked up by the schooner Active is probably the one that went up at Albion. Nothing is yet known of the aerial traveler.

The steamer Esmeralda, Captain Rodgers, has been up the Colorado to Colville, in Utah, 120 miles beyond all previous trips. This takes her within 400 miles of Salt Lake City. She towed a barge of 100 tons of freight. Boats can make the trip from the mouth of the river in ten days.

A man got tipsy and indulged in a night's sleep in a country graveyard. On opening his eyes in the morning he noticed the motto on a gravestone, "He is not dead but sleepeth." "When I am dead," he remarked, "I'll own up, and have no such statement as that above my carcass."

A process has been discovered by which india rubber can be bleached pure white and after having been hardened can be used for the manufacture of collars and cuffs. It is difficult, one which has been long sought for, and is done by a chemical process which is said to be fatal to the workmen engaged therein, unless protection is afforded them. So fearfully dangerous are the fumes arising from the combination of the required chemicals that the workmen are encased in armor and are supplied with pure air from other apartments than the one in which they labor. If the manufacture of these goods be so dangerous, the wearing of them cannot be over safe or healthy.

It is said that Garibaldi's wounds are breaking out afresh, and it is feared he will have to suffer the amputation of one foot.

Larkin G. Mead, Jr., the eminent Vermont sculptor, who returns to his studies in Florence within a few weeks, has recently been in consultation with Professor Clark on the subject of the memorial which Amherst College proposes to erect to her Alumni and students who fell in the war. It is to be a group of bronze statuary, and to cost not less than $25,000. Some of the best sculptors in the country will be invited to contribute to its designs.

A political meeting was lately held at Frederick city, Maryland, in favor of the President's policy. The speakers and those assembled appeared to have an idea that the "Confederacy" still existed, or that it would again rise from its ashes like the fabled phœnix. Cheers, long and long were given for Jeff. Davis, Beauregard, Lee, Forrest, etc. To add eclat to the occasion, a six horse wagon from the country entered the town with a rebel flag fastened to the head of each horse.

The returns of importations of wheat into England for the last season show Russia contributed 29 per cent. of the total, while the proportion from the United States was only two per cent. The quantity from France was 23 per cent., from Germany 25 per cent., and from all other countries 21 per cent.

A grand celebration of the colored people in honor of Lincoln's emancipation proclamation, took place recently at Leffert's and Myrtle Avenue Parks, Brooklyn, N. Y. An oration by J. P. Jones, the reading of the proclamation, dancing and other amusements comprised the proceedings.

Gen. Harris, Gen. Shelby, Gen. Price, and all those American soldiers who were living on lands given them by Maximilian, have been compelled to abandon their farms and take shelter in Cordova. Gen. Shelby is running a wagon train from Paso del Macho to the city of Mexico. The undertaking affords him a good living. Gen. Hindman is in Cordova practicing law. Ex-Congressman (Judge) Oldman of Texas, is engaged in writing a history of the war, together with taking photographs as a means of support. He is doing a thriving business, as his camera is of his own invention, and the first of its kind ever operated. Its peculiarity is that it enables him to give the Mexicans a very pale picture, which is said to suit them exactly, as they have a desire to appear as white as possible.

PEG-LEG SMITH.—The Nevada Gazette gives the following biographical item which is characteristic of this old mountaineer:

Peg Leg Smith, whose death was recently announced, as most of our readers are aware, was an old mountaineer, and one of the most noted of his class. He was the cotemporary of Greenwood, Bill Williams, Walker, Joe Meek, Black Harris, and the older class of mountaineers, and his active career had well nigh closed when Fremont made his first trip to the Rocky Mountains. For many years he has lived in California, but those who have only seen him here as a poor, broken down old man, can have but little idea of what he was in his younger days, when by his superior sagacity and coolness he was instinctively chosen the leader, either in an Indian fight or a horse-stealing raid. Many stories are told in the mountains of his daring achievements and hair-breadth escapes, some of which are doubtless fictitious, but his real adventures, if properly written out, would fill an interesting volume. One of his most successful and profitable adventures occurred about forty years ago, when, with some dozen followers, he made a trip to Southern California. Either from some misbehavior on their part, or on account of a suspicion as to their intentions, the Californians ordered Peg-Leg and his party to leave the country. They left, as ordered, but took with them between three and four hundred horses. The Californians immediately raised a considerable force and started in pursuit of the raiders, following them through a pass of the Sierras. Being well mounted, the Californians were rapidly gaining on Peg-Leg's party, who were encumbered with their pack animals and the large drove of stolen horses. Knowing they would be overtaken, Peg-Leg resorted to strategy. After crossing a desert of some twenty or thirty miles, they came to a stream of water, where the party divided, four of the men being sent ahead with the horses and the remainder secreting themselves among the willows along the bank of the stream. As anticipated, the thirty Californians dismounted for a drink as soon as they reached the water; whereupon Peg-Leg and his party rushed from their hiding places with an Indian war-whoop, and ere the astonished Californians recovered from their surprise, their horses were stampeded and driven off by the daring mountaineers. The Californians were thus left on foot, and how they got back was never known. Peg-Leg and his followers returned to the mountains, with what they considered their honestly acquired property. This incident was related to us in 1845, at Fort Hall, by an old mountaineer, who was one of the party.

For the year ending September 22d, says the Philadelphia Ledger, over 212,000 gallons of petroleum were exported from the United States, while the export of that article for the preceding year was a little over one-third as much. To show the importance of this trade to Philadelphia, it states that up to September 1st, 16 ships, 76 barks, 33 brigs and 3 schooners, laden entirely with this staple of Pennsylvania, have cleared for foreign countries from that port, making a total of 122 vessels in eight months.

GEORGE PEABODY AND THE PRESIDENT.—A Boston correspondent of a Western paper says:

It may interest you to know George Peabody's political views. He has favored Johnson's policy of immediate reconstruction, but the President's extravagant and offensive speeches and outrageous conduct generally have alarmed and estranged him.

FOR IMPEACHMENT.—The Stockton Independent earnestly advocates the impeachment of the "incumbrance" in the Executive chair, and closes by remarking:

It is idle to talk about any milder terms of compromise. Milder terms mean a complete surrender of the majority to the minority—of Congress to the President—of loyalty to rebellion. If the Southern minority cannot trust their cause in the hands of the great majority of the nation, they ought not to demand that the majority trust them. The Congressional party is represented by 25 States and 20,000,000 of white people. The President by but 12 States and 7,000,000 of white people. He has appealed from Congress to the people, and the judgment is against him. He now appeals from this judgment by threats against Congress, and for this he ought to be unseated. No public interest North or South can lose by his impeachment. He has become the stumbling block in the way of friends and enemies alike, and sound policy as well as justice demands that some other man should fill the office he now disgraces. We should have had no serious troubles with the South but for this man's moral obliquity and ingrained treachery, and we will venture that Mr. Foster, or Mr. Colfax, or Mr. Chase, would not occupy the Presidential office six months until every misunderstanding between the two sections would be healed, and the Government thoroughly reconstructed in a manner as satisfactory to all reasonable men at the South as consistent with justice and sound policy.

The London Times comments at some length upon the immense addition to the wear and tear of commercial life which the cable is likely to create. When merchants received one mail a day they had the afternoon to themselves. When they received two, their whole day was gone; and when the telegraph came, their evenings went also. Now, it may be fairly expected, considering the vast spaces traversed by the ocean cables, with the difference of time at the points of arrival and departure, their nights will go also. In this country, however, the change will be less severely felt than in England. There are few merchants in America who are not already working to their utmost capacity, or who could, if a thousand fortunes depended on it, take one hour more from sleep, or eating, or social intercourse. Where it is all going to end, and what kind of life the "merchant of the future" will lead, nobody knows, or pretends to know. From present appearances it would seem as if the commerce of the world would pass into the hands of a few great houses; that all the small dealers would be converted into clerks on salaries, and everything be done by a few vast combinations conceived, by half a dozen heads, the details being worked out by subordinates, possessing only a limited responsibility, and, therefore, suffering little from wear and tear.—The Nation.

CHARLES LAMB.—The following is from Barry Cornwall's Memoirs of that most delightful of English humorists, Charles Lamb;

The fact that distinguished Charles Lamb from other men was his entire devotion to one grand and tender purpose. There is, probably a romance involved in every life. In his life it exceeded that of others. In gravity, in acuteness, in his noble battle with a great calamity, it was beyond the rest. Neither pleasure nor toil ever distracted him from his holy purpose. Everything was made subservient to it. He had an insane sister, who in a moment of uncontrollable madness had unconsciously destroyed her own mother; and to protect and save his sister—a gentle woman, who had watched like a mother over his own infancy—the whole length of his life was devoted. What he endured, through the space of nearly forty years, from the incessant fear and frequent recurrence of his sister's insanity, can now only be conjectured. In this constant and uncomplaining endurance, and in his steady adherence to a great principle of conduct, his life was heroic.

Dr. Chapin's new church, in New York city, on Fifth Avenue, is nearly completed, and the congregation are expecting to occupy it early in November. It is built in the Gothic style of architecture, and without being profuse in ornament, has an imposing appearance. The plot of ground upon which it is built is 100 feet square, and is enclosed by a handsome iron railing. The building has a brown stone front, with a spire on the north side, and a tower (shorter than the spire) on the south side. The walls are composed of brick, and are of substantial thickness. The church itself is 80 feet wide and 100 feet in length, and will seat about 1,800 persons. The cost, exclusive of the ground, will be about $120,000.

A CURIOUS DISCOVERY.—An odd discovery was made in the village of Bonsall, near Bath, England, recently! The boarded floor of a room on the ground floor of a house in the Upper Town, was taken up for the purpose of being replaced by a new one, when the centre beam was found to be resting on 20 horses' skulls! The lower jaws were all gone, having been detached probably for the purpose of allowing them to rest more solidly, or otherwise having decayed away. There is a tradition in the village that a battle was once fought on Bonsall Moor, and it is inferred that these remains were obtained from thence.

The Mayor of Nance is an intelligent individual. On the occasion of the recent visit of the Empress Eugenie with her son, the Mayor asked the Prince Imperial; "What is your age, my Prince?" "I am ten," answered the Prince. "So young, and already the son of the Emperor of the French!" exclaimed the Mayor, with great emphasis.

WEEKLY REVIEW.

PORTLAND, FRIDAY, 2 P. M.,
Nov. 2, 1866.

We have but little change to note since our last. Business continues good, and our merchants have no cause to complain. Large freights continue to be sent up the Columbia river for the supply of our northern customers, and by private letter we learn that business on the upper Columbia has much improved—this tells decisively the difference between the rival routes to Montana—a few months ago our northern trade was very light and only to established customers, but the near approach of winter has brought renewed activity to the trade. New customers came and orders were pouring in. Freight is at this time much lower at Umatilla than it was a few months ago. All the goods in store have been forwarded, and the teamsters were offering at low rates to contract for the delivery of goods at the mining towns. All this goes to prove that goods can be transported more easily and cheaper than upon the Chico or Humboldt routes. When the near approach of winter had driven the teamsters from the Chico and Humboldt routes into winter quarters and their business was ended for the season, a very different state of affairs existed upon our route. Freighters appeared at Umatilla and took large freights and offer to take more at lower rates than was previously asked. We are doing well, remembering the great efforts made by California to obtain the trade, her steamboats and railroads carrying freight for this trade at a mere nominal figure, and sparing neither money or energy to build up the trade. The Indian troubles throughout our northern frontier has injured us greatly.

Our receipts of wheat and flour are rapidly increasing, owing to an increased demand for exportation. The steamer Fideliter took a good freight, mostly flour, to Victoria. The schooner Cruby cleared on the 1st inst. for Seattle with a full cargo of wheat and flour. The barks Eldridge and Falkinburg will both take Oregon flour to Honolulu. The steamer Oriflamme sailed yesterday with a large lot of flour, from the Standard and Imperial mills for the San Francisco market. Our San Francisco friends are largely exporting a surplus of wheat and flour at prices that bring a portion of the supply in the San Francisco market from Oregon. We note exports from San Francisco to Honolulu of apples, barley, flour, fruit, onions, potatoes, and in fact of almost every article of country produce. We have several vessels running direct and when those articles of produce can be purchased more cheaply in Portland than in San Francisco we certainly ought to drive a brisk trade with the Islands in the articles noted. We have certainly advanced from the old days of Oregon improvidence by importing direct our sugars, &c., and if we can establish this reciprocity of trade, we will then stand on the proper footing.

The New York correspondent of the Bulletin says that "commercial values, with limited exceptions, are materially higher than during the war, when the Gold premium was double what it is now. The consequence is the demand for merchandise and produce is rigidly consumptive—very few business men having the temerity to extend their operations much beyond the exigencies of the times. There is no indication of any material shading off in Gold, but the possibility of such a movement serves to inspire great caution in commercial circles. Hence trade continues spasmodic, and in most departments unsatisfactory. The Dry Goods department is a notable exception. The season was backward about commencing, but thus far it has been eminently prosperous. Prices, too, keep up remarkably well, there having been very little abatement in standard goods, while many descriptions are higher than they were at the opening of the season. This is especially true of Cotton goods, which have fully kept pace with the rise in the raw material. Middling upland Cotton has advanced to 39½@42c on the strength of continued unfavorable crop reports. Late Cable news advises us of a decided advance in Liverpool, and the market at this writing is very strong. Woolen goods, on the other hand, are depressed with the raw material, and unless there shall be a speedy rally in the latter, a decided fall in prices would seem to be inevitable."

From our San Francisco dispatches of Nov. 1st, we quote the following in relation to the Money market:

Domestic Produce Market.

PORTLAND, November 2, 1866.

We note that country produce is very plentiful. There is a heavy demand for Apples, and dealers are busily engaged in packing. There is a demand for Victoria—and as usual for the San Francisco market, where Oregon Apples rule A 1. Eggs have taken a sudden advance, owing to a limited supply—dealers paying from 40c to 42½c—retailing at 50c, and jobbing, packed for shipping at 50c per dozen. We quote:

CIRCULAR
To the Officers and Soldiers Oregon Volunteers.

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
SALEM, Oct. 23, 1866.

BY RECENT ACTS OF CONGRESS ALL OFFICERS of the Volunteer Service who were in Commission March 3d, 1865, and subsequently mustered out after April 9th, 1865, are entitled to three months extra pay proper.

Enlisted men are entitled to additional bounty in certain cases, by Acts of Congress of July 28th, 1866, and the following rules and regulations, together with the form of application adopted by the War Department, are published for the guidance and benefit of all concerned:

RULES AND REGULATIONS FOR THE PAYMENT OF BOUNTIES UNDER THE ACT TO EQUALIZE BOUNTIES, APPROVED JULY 28, 1866.

WAR DEPARTMENT, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, September 16, 1866.

1. All applications shall be filed within the period of six months, from the 1st day of October, 1866, and before any payments are made, shall be classified by regiments, battalions, or other separate organizations, and no application filed after that period shall be settled until after the former shall have been paid.

2. No application shall be entertained unless accompanied by the original discharge of the soldier and the affidavit required by the fourteenth section of the Act, and the further affidavit that he has not received, nor is he entitled to receive from the United States, under any laws or regulations prior to the Act of July 28, 1866, more than $100 bounty for any and all military service rendered by him during the late rebellion, over and above the amount therein claimed.

3. All applications for the additional bounty authorized by this Act from surviving soldiers shall be in the form hereinafter prescribed, and the evidence of identity shall be the same as is now required, and applications from the heirs of deceased soldiers shall be in the form now required by the Treasury Department.

4. As soon as the examination of the claims of any regiment, or other independent organization, shall have been properly acted upon the Paymaster General shall take the necessary steps for their prompt payment.

5. A register shall be kept in the Paymaster General's office, and also in the office of the Second Auditor, of all claims presented under the law, in which the claimants will be classified by regiments, etc. If the claims be allowed, the amount of bounty paid to each will be noted, and if rejected the cause of rejection will be distinctly stated.

6. In the applications for bounty, as required by the third of these rules, the affidavit shall state each and every period of service rendered by the claimant, and also that he never served otherwise than as herein stated.

7. Organizations irregularly in the service of the United States, or called out for special purposes, as State Militia, Home Guards, etc., and not included in the general bounty laws, are not included within the meaning of the Act.

8. Soldiers enlisted for "three years or during the war," who were discharged by reason of the termination of the war, shall be considered as having served out the period of their enlistment, and are entitled to bounty under this Act.

9. The minority of heirs, claimants for bounty under this Act, must be proven to have existed at the date of its passage. Parents shall receive jointly the bounty to which they may be entitled as heirs, unless the father has abandoned the support of his family, in which case it shall be paid to the mother. Non-residence in the United States shall not be a bar to the claim of heirs, who would otherwise legally inherit.

The provisions of the Act exclude from its benefits the following classes:

1. Those who, after serving the full period of their enlistment, were dishonorably discharged at its expiration.

2. Those discharged during enlistment by way of favor or punishment.

3. Those discharged on account of disability contracted in the service, but not occasioned by wounds received "in the line of duty," who shall not have previously served two or three years respectively at the time of discharge.

4. Those discharged on account of disability existing at the time of their enlistment.

5. The heirs of those who have died since their discharge of wounds or disease not contracted in the service and in the line of duty.

6. The surviving soldiers and heirs of deceased soldiers who, under previous laws, have received or are entitled to receive a bounty of more than $100 from the United States.

7. The surviving soldiers, as well as the heirs of deceased soldiers, when such soldiers have bartered, sold, assigned, loaned, transferred, exchanged or given away their final discharge papers, or any interest in the bounty provided by this or any other Act of Congress.

8. The Act of the 28th of July, 1866, creates no right of inheritance beyond those vested by the law under which these heirs received or were entitled to receive the original bounty, and debars certain classes, brothers and sisters of heirs that were entitled to receive the original bounty, from any claim for the additional bounty provided by this Act.

Respectfully referred to the Attorney General for his opinion on the point whether the rules and regulations as within amended are in conformity with law.

EDWIN M. STANTON,
September 14, 1866. Secretary of War.

I have examined these amended regulations, and am of opinion they are in conformity with law.

HENRY STANBERY,
September 16, 1866. Attorney General.

The foregoing rules and regulations are published for the information and guidance of all concerned.

By order of the Secretary of War.

E. D. TOWNSEND,
Assistant Adjutant General.

This is but a just acknowledgment of the services of our brave volunteers who have imperilled their lives upon a hundred battle fields, or have left home with all its dear associations, to defend our frontier and protect the lives of our citizens from the murderous attacks of a savage foe, and I sincerely desire that the brave volunteers of Oregon should receive the full benefit arising from this Act, and for whose benefit I have issued this Circular.

It will be necessary to strictly follow the foregoing rules and forms.

All applications must be made direct to the Second Auditor at Washington, D. C.

All Soldiers desiring that I should attend to this business for them will make application to this office either by letter or in person. Very respectfully,
Yours obediently,

SOMETHING NEW!
THE NEW LIGHT!
DANFORD'S
Atmospheric Coal Oil Gas Lamp!

ARTIFICIAL LIGHT OF SOME SORT, IS A UNIversal necessity. A Safe, Cheap and Brilliant one is a Luxury—a luxury only enjoyed heretofore by those who live in large cities where Gas is used. Years of study and much capital have been exhausted in experiments to produce a lamp wherein the ordinary Kerosene or Coal Oil could be used without a chimney, and without unpleasant odor while in use. That fruitful source of expense, trouble and annoyance, the chimney, is in DANFORD'S COAL OIL GAS LAMP avoided; it is the most perfect Lamp and will entirely supersede all other Coal Oil Lamps; it is the cheapest artificial light that can be used, yielding the light of an ordinary six foot Gas burner for less than ¼ cent per hour, or double the quantity of light of an ordinary Chimney Lamp, for one third the cost. It will burn when turned down to a taper-light, ten hours for a cent, is free from smoke, can be carried from room to room and the wind will not blow it out. These LAMPS will be on exhibition and for sale at the Music and Art Gallery of Shanahan & Dufrene, corner of Morrison and First streets.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES
Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

617 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Disease.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering from the effects of secret indulgences, or from diseases absorbed into the system! Look at their pale, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid state thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering from any of these horrible life-destroying maladies, and see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late, by sending them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing on the public by using the names of eminent physicians of Europe and other places. Be therefore careful to make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse or solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combated by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noises like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequently insanity. If relief is not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails in effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will forfeit Five Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by any of the San Francisco quacks.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give each patient a written instrument, binding himself to make a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating the symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in a registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.
